

Who is a Massage Therapist?

Massage Therapists are professionals who treat individuals using touch and their trained hands to manipulate muscles, tendons, and other soft tissues of the body with the purpose of relieving pain, helping heal injuries, improve circulation, relieve stress, increase relaxation and aid in promoting overall wellness for the individuals on whom they work.

Is Massage Therapy a Good Career?

- In High Demand
- Great Income Potential
- Flexible Hours
- Variety of Potential Work Environments
- Opportunities for Growth
- Rewarding Work
- Training is Affordable
- Can be a Fun, Low-Stress Career Choice

Where do Massage Therapists work?

The Massage Therapy industry is a growth-oriented occupation. Employment is available in a wide range of settings:

- Spas and resorts
- Hospitals and hospices
- Wellness centers
- Rehabilitation centers
- Chiropractic offices
- Athletic clubs
- Sports facilities/teams
- Massage franchises
- Corporate wellness programs
- Cruise ships and hotels
- Self-employed/Entrepreneurship

Empowering Individuals through Transformational Experiences

Clinical Massage Therapy Program

Start your career as a Massage Therapist!

Call Today 715-341-3333

www.WellnessSchool.net

The Wellness School Clinical Massage Therapy Program

Making the decision to work in the wellness field can be rewarding in many ways. Choosing a career as a massage therapist will transform you into an exceptional human who can then help others transform their personal health and wellness for the better.

Finding the right massage therapy training program is key when deciding this is the career path you want to pursue. Finding a well-rounded, yet specifically driven approach to massage therapy will be key to helping you become not only a great therapist, but one who upon graduation, has the knowledge, hands-on efficacy, and skills, along with self-care sustainability, to ensure your first day or 25th year on the job as a Massage Therapist is filled with confidence, clarity, and contentment.

Why Choose The Wellness School?

- We believe massage is healthcare. Our anatomy/health science-based, integrative program prepares you to treat health conditions in any health care setting.
- Get specialized training and stand out. Our clinical applied approach to bodywork, eastern therapies, therapeutic and spa protocols, and assessment/treatment offer you diverse, yet thorough training with tools not found at other massage schools.
- Individual attention to detail. Our small class size, experienced faculty, and partnership with University of Wisconsin – Stevens Point Wellness leaders ensures educational quality and structure within a safe, comfortable learning environment.
- Massage therapists are in high demand. The federal Occupational Outlook for Massage Therapists is a 20% career growth rate by 2032. Massage Therapists provide non-invasive treatment that can relieve stress, manage pain, and improve a person's overall wellbeing. And we believe that the healing tools needed for the next decade need to be results-oriented.

What sets us apart from other massage programs?

- 7 times more clinical hours than the Wisconsin state required hours which means you graduate prepared with knowledge and confidence to succeed.
- Results-oriented teaching and training so you know how to treat a variety of conditions.
- 14:1 - our student-to-faculty ratio is 14 to 1 at most, so you get individualized attention.
- 35 years of experience in the massage and spa industry.
- Over 20,000+ hours of tried-and-true massage techniques perfected into effective protocols are integrated into the curriculum.
- Brand new facility with beautiful classrooms, clinical treatment rooms, and student areas filled with natural light and views of wooded Wisconsin.
- Positioned in the center of Wisconsin, safe location with easy access to interstate for traveling students and free parking.
- Partnership with University of Wisconsin – Stevens Point Wellness Department for collaboration at its best!
- Sustainability, self-care, and strength training to ensure a healthy, long-lasting career.
- Graduate with additional certifications to expand your career opportunities.
- Affiliated with The Wellness Spa; a reputable, 29-year business with 80,000+ customers.

